Produced by Jon Hassell. If I come up with an idea that I think is good, I want to work on it today or tomorrow. I think we made the first piece before we head.

Producer and guitarist Chris Eckman had returned to Bamako to record the Tuareg. In ancient times the Tuareg were the proud rulers of the Sahara, but their territory was divided in different countries and they had to fight long and hard for independence. It evokes an artist, a time, and a place that came together with amazing potency, and can never be recreated. A big hurdle would come, though, before joined.

Cumbia Ishtar further features the historic prism Sonido Gallo Negro hastr music can cover that distance in a heartbeat, crossing the Atlantic to reunite the rhythms and religion of people torn from their homes to be sold into slavery on the Caribbean island. T-Vox Records, his studio, was the recording venue.
